If Your Doctor say that you have RSV you may qualify. Now recruiting: A clinical trial for people with Respiratory Syncytial Virus (RSV) infection

The SHINE-HR clinical trial may be right for you if you are an adult with confirmed RSV infection.

By participating in the SHINE-HR clinical trial, you can help us learn if a study medicine is safe to use in people with RSV infection who also have health risks, and if it can prevent them from getting seriously ill because of RSV.

Participants in this clinical trial will receive care from a team of specialists and contribute to research on RSV infection that may help protect more people from severe illness caused by this virus.

If your age is between 18 and 64, you can participate if you have one or more of the following which increase the risk of RSV severity:

a long-term lung disease

heart failure

a condition that weakens the immune system
